DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, 2, 4-8, 13-16 and 18, drawn to a polypeptide, DNA, vectors, host cells and methods of protein production.

Group II, claim(s) 9, drawn to a method for suppressing neuronal death by contacting a neuron with a polypeptide.

Group III, claim(s) 10, drawn to a method for detecting a cell death suppressing activity of a polypeptide.

Group IV, claim(s) 11 and 12, drawn to a method for detecting the effect of a chemical compound on neuronal death suppressing activity of a polypeptide.

Groups V, claim(s) 17, drawn to an antibody to a polypeptide.

Groups VI, claim(s) 19, drawn to a method of screening for a chemical compound that binds to a polypeptide.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I to VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.475 (d), the ISA/US considers that where multiple products and processes are claimed, the main invention shall consist of the first invention of the category first mentioned in the claims and the first recited invention of each of the other categories related thereto. Accordingly, the main invention (Group I) comprises the first recited product, a polypeptide, DNA encoding this polypeptide and methods of using the DNA in a process of protein production. Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.475 (d), the ISA/US considers that any feature which is the subsequently recited products and methods share with the main invention does not constitute a special technical feature within the meaning of PCT Rule 13.2 and that each of such products and methods accordingly defines a separate invention.

The proteins and encoding DNA that are invention I and antibodies that are invention V are at least seventy-five different chemical compositions each of which can be made and used without each other. Lack of unity is shown by the fact that these seventy-five different compositions lack a common utility based upon a shared structural feature lacking from the prior art. Inventions that are groups II, III, IV and VI are directed to different methods that recite structurally and functionally distinct elements, are not required one for the other, achieve different goals, and therefore constitute patentably distinct inventions.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

4. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Art Unit: 1646

The species are as follows:

Different molecular embodiments specifically articulated in claim 2.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 2-19

The following claim(s) are generic: claim 1.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The proteins that constitute invention I are twenty-five different chemical compositions each of which can be made and used without each other. Lack of unity is shown by the fact that these twenty-five different compositions lack a common shared structural feature lacking from the prior art
